MISSION RULES

Precious Objectives: After players have chosen their deployment zones, but before they declare reserves and transports, the players reposition the objective markers labelled A and B as described below:

- First, the Attacker repositions either one objective marker labelled A or one objective marker labelled B.
- Secondly, the Defender repositions one objective marker labelled A and one objective marker labelled B (an objective marker cannot be repositioned more than once).
- Finally, the Attacker repositions the last objective marker labelled A or B that has yet to be repositioned.

In all cases, when an objective marker is repositioned, you set it up wholly within 6" horizontally of its original position, and not on or within any Obstacles or Defensible Terrain features.

After all objective markers have been repositioned, each player secretly notes down one of the objective markers that is within their opponent's territory to be a Priority objective marker (this cannot be the objective marker in the centre of the battlefield). After both players have deployed their armies, they then reveal their choices to their opponent.

PRIMARY OBJECTIVES

This mission has two primary objectives.

TAKE AND HOLD

Progressive Objective

At the end of each player's Command phase, the player whose turn it is scores 4 victory points for each of the following conditions they satisfy (for a maximum of 12 victory points):

- They control one or more objective markers.
- They control two or more objective markers.
- They control more objective markers than their opponent controls.

This primary objective cannot be scored in the first battle round. In the fifth battle round, the player who has the second turn does not score any victory points at the end of their Command phase; instead, at the end of their turn, they score 4 victory points for each of the above conditions they satisfy (for a maximum of 12 victory points).

PRECIOUS ARTEFACTS

Progressive Objective

At the end of each player's turn, the player whose turn it is scores 3 victory points if they control the Priority objective marker that is in their own territory.

The terrain map could be either layout 1 or 2 and will be revealed at a later date

The image features a topographic map of a region, likely a planet's surface, rendered in dark grey and black tones with red contour lines. The map is framed by a thick red border with a distressed, blood-splattered appearance. At the top center, the 'WARHAMMER 40,000' logo is displayed in a metallic, blue-grey font with a white outline. The logo is set against a dark, stylized background that resembles a winged helmet or a similar symbol. The text 'WARHAMMER' is in a larger, bold font, and '40,000' is in a smaller font below it. A small 'TM' trademark symbol is visible to the right of the logo. Several white sun-like symbols with rays are scattered across the map, particularly along a diagonal path that runs from the bottom left towards the top right. The overall aesthetic is gritty and militaristic, characteristic of the Warhammer 40,000 universe.
